24, count 'em, mentions of McCain's houses on -- let me wipe my hands off, here; there! -- Cheetopia's front page right now. Recommended diaries, story after story.

Sure, I get the angle that we're owed payback for the windsurfing thing, I truly do. Sure, I get the angle that we can pre-empt a charge of elitism with our own charge of elitism. Sure, I get that we need our own Mighty Wurlitzer. Whatever works.

I just never imagined we'd try to defeat the Republicans by morphing into them.

Although, given the nature of Obama's primary campaign, I don't know why I'd be surprised.

UPDATE Over at WKJM's place, 23. I certainly hope all these people get jobs in the new administration: they will have earned it!
